GAMING STANDARDSGaming Standards Association at G2E 2017

LAS VEGAS (September 26, 2017) – The Gaming Standards Association (GSA) will be at G2E 2017 in booth #4100. As the premier organization for technical collaboration in the gaming industry GSA will bring together operators, regulators, and suppliers and talk about our latest initiatives in Europe, Online Gaming and Education.

GSA, together with Howard & Howard, will host a GSA Cocktail Reception on October 4, from 4:00 pm to 7:00 pm at the Loft at TAO inside the Venetian Las Vegas. We look forward to a relaxing evening of networking, collaboration and discussion of the future of our industry.

GSA Europe is a Malta-based division of GSA focusing on better serving the regional needs of suppliers, manufacturers, online and land-based operators, and regulators outside North America. GSA Europe's Managing Director, Mark Pace, will be available in the booth to answer questions.

In addition, GSA has recently partnered with iGaming Academy to provide greater access to education. The iGaming Academy, in conjunction with GSA, has developed and will host our new, GSA Lecture Series. GSA Protocol Director Ethan Tower will be available in the booth to answer questions.

Finally, GSA will be discussing and answering questions regarding our new series of Online Gaming Standards, including the Third Party Gaming Interface (TPI) and the Regulatory Reporting Interface (RRI).

There is a level of membership for every budget. Visit www.gamingstandards.com to learn more. Join GSA as a member today and join GSA on LinkedIn, Twitter, and Facebook.
