

NMi Gaming Brings Gaming Testing Expertise to ICE 2018

Company Exhibiting on Stand N4-122

Netherlands (25 January 2018) – NMi Gaming is bringing its gaming testing expertise to ICE 2018, where the company's experts will be on stand N4-122, presenting solutions for established markets as well as emerging markets.

NMi Gaming will be keenly focused on emerging European markets such as Sweden and the Netherlands and share how the company's extensive work in the Czech Republic and in Colombia, Latin America over the past 12 months has yet again raised the bar in testing and certification.

Leading NMi Gaming's ICE exhibit is Managing Director Andrew Rosewarne. He said, "ICE marks the beginning of a new year in the industry and a chance to reflect and look to the future. We have experienced rocketing demand for our Information Security Services, and we have more than doubled the size of our team of professionals, while also qualifying as a PCI ASV, a first for an accredited testing lab in this market. We are excited to bring these services to our customers across Europe and beyond."

Looking forward for 2018, at ICE NMi Gaming will discuss the emergence of Sweden and the Netherlands and draft standards available to help its customers make an early move towards a full range of compliant products, security and content.
