

International law firm, Cooper Levenson, named Legal and Regulatory Advisors to ICE North America

Lloyd D. Levenson, CEO, at the renowned full-service international law firm, Cooper Levenson, will be using the forthcoming ICE North America to provide the very latest insight on the state of play in Pennsylvania together with details of the first iGaming and sports betting licences awarded following the Department of Justice's reinterpretation of The Wire Act. The C-Level analysis has been secured following Cooper Levenson's selection as the official Legal and Regulatory Advisor to the ground-breaking event, which is taking place across May 13-15 at the Boston Convention and Exhibition Center.

Previewing his participation in ICE North America, Lloyd D. Levenson said: "We are honored to be selected by ICE North America as Legal and Regulatory Advisor and to be collaborating on such an important event at this crucial juncture for the nation. At this time, it's a dynamic market pregnant with opportunity for gaming organizations who understand the regulatory landscape and Cooper Levenson is very much looking forward to sharing our professional insight with the assembled audience of 2,000 decision makers from across the spectrum of Sports Betting and iGaming."

Kate Chambers, Managing Director responsible for Clarion Gaming's portfolio of leading brands, believes the calibre and status of contributors is of critical importance for delegates. She stated: "Cooper Levenson is a hugely respected, international law firm. They have an unparalleled knowledge and understanding of the North American regulatory landscape and delegates attending ICE North America will benefit from their insight. One of the many stand-out features of ICE North America is its ability to appeal to the entire A-Z of the gaming eco-system. What our key five verticals of Sports Betting, iGaming, Esports, iLottery and Affiliate Marketing all have in common is the imperative of operating within a regulatory framework, which is why having experts such as Cooper Levenson on board is so important."

Lloyd D. Levenson will join a host of C-Level decision makers or 'MVPs' participating in ICE North America. The line-up of 'MVPs' speaking at the event brings together a broad range of decision makers and thought leaders including Mario Kontomerkos, CEO, Mohegan Gaming and Entertainment and Owner, Connecticut Sun; Craig Barry, Executive Vice President/Chief Content Officer Turner Sports; Jason Sondag, Senior Director, Strategy & Analytics, Chicago Cubs; Jeff Gerttula, EVP and General Manager, CBS Sports Digital;
