Gambling industry leaders open third edition of Juegos Miami

Juegos Miami cemented its position as ‘the’ gaming event for Central, South and Latin America alongside the Caribbean, as one of the largest concentrations of C-Level influencers in the history of the region’s gaming industry converged on The Biltmore Hotel, Miami when the event’s third edition officially opened (Wednesday, May 30). The opening ceremony was attended by industry leaders, including top decision makers, key operators, legislators, major buyers and business owners – alongside key representatives from Juegos Miami organisers Clarion Gaming.

Heralding the event, Kate Chambers, Managing Director, Clarion Gaming, said: “The Juegos Miami vision was to create a unique event in order to meet the specific needs of this exciting and dynamic market. Following two very successful editions, we have worked in partnership with all of our stakeholders in order to take Juegos Miami on to the next level and expand its remit as shown by this year’s co-location with GiGse, which opens on Thursday (May 31). It’s very encouraging to see that Juegos Miami continues to show an uplift in every metric we use, with a significant rise in registration for 2018 and more thought leaders, more influencers and more gaming innovators from more countries supporting us in Miami. Juegos Miami is playing a pivotal role in the development of the gaming industry across Latin America and the Caribbean and I am immensely grateful to all the many individuals and organisations for contributing to this success.”
